How to Read Product Codes for Sangokushi Taisen Cards

In our price list, each item has its own unique product code. This document serves as a guideline to our customers on how product codes are read.

There are 3 parts to the product code of each part, namely:

- (I) Version [ST; ST2; ST3]
- (II) Faction / Rarity [Wei; Shu; Wu; Han (ST3); Qun (ST3); Liang (ST2); Ta (ST2); Yuan (ST2); LE; EX] – Note that cards with version code ST do not have this part unless they are LE/EX.
- (III) Card number

To read the version code, turn the card to the back and check the background color. There are 3 different possibilities, namely:

- (I) Biege / Off-white: ST
- (II) Black: ST2
- (III) Green: ST3

To read the faction / rarity code, leave the card in the back view and read the number at the top right corner. There are a total of 10 different possibilities, namely:

- (I) 魏 – Wei
- (II) 蜀 – Shu
- (III) 吳 – Wu
- (IV) 漢 – Han
- (V) 群 – Qun
- (VI) 涼 – Liang
- (VII) 他 – Ta
- (VIII) 袁 – Yuan
- (IX) LE – LE
- (X) EX – EX

Please note that the rarity code (LE/EX) will take precedence over the faction code.

There are 2 types of number codes, general and tactician (ST3) number codes. The difference is that the tactician number code will have a “T” in front of the number. To read it, just read the number right beside the faction / rarity code.

Figure 4: Reading the number code from a tactician card. Please note that tactician cards have the characters “軍師” and “T” in front of the number on the card and on the product code, respectively. Also note that this is only applicable for ST3 cards.
